Kori — an armchair that will tuck you in softly.

The designer of Kori aimed at crafting one of Noti's most comfortable and versatile seats.

The armchair family stands out for the deep incision at the back of the backrest. The incision is reminiscent of the waistline and splits the backrest in two. In this way, the form becomes more pronounced, catching the eye from every angle.

---

The shapes of all Kori pieces are drawn with soft, fluid lines. The rounded, organic wavy backrests resemble nutshells. They look friendly and comfortable at a glance, as they tuck the user in.

---

Kori's soft, curved forms ooze timeless elegance. With the appropriate base, the collection can gain a more homely, or a more office look, which makes the collection suitable for a variety of spaces and applications.
